IN MEMORIAM

WHEN Frank H. Ward solved the great mystery it brought the most poignant sorrow to those of Tonopah with whom he was in close communion during his eight years' residence in this town. He is lamented by those also with whom his relationship was but casual, for he was a man who never made an enemy, but who brought together and cemented friendships. It was a rare quality that he possessed. Otherwise the flags would not be floating at half mast today. When a man leaves behind him the sorrow and love and regret of an entire community he has accomplished something in life.

Frank Ward did this and in so doing he exemplified that which is not merely a human attribute. It is something that partakes of the spiritual. It evidences that he possessed that animating spirit that is above and beyond the grossness of the struggle for existence, the obsession to gain vantage at the expense and cost of those in rivalry, but is an impulse to make for the betterment and the advantage of his fellow men. Ward was not an accumulator, nor a seeker after personal aggrandizement at the loss of anyone. He simply filled his niche in life and endeavored to do well and kindly for all with whom he came in contact. And if there is to be a reward for such principles and for such conduct, it certainly is his.

The Bonanza deplures his death. It was bowed in grief to learn through the pitiless click of the Morse alphabet of his demise. For Frank was for eight years the bulwark of this paper. He was loyal at all times. He went through the trying days when fire and dynamite were directed against this establishment. At all times he carried the key to the cash box and he regulated the incoming and the outgoing of the money, with his accounts always balanced to the cent. He took up fraternal duties and he performed them to the word, the syllable and the punctuation mark, adding to this a broad philanthropy, so far as his finances would permit.

That is why the flag is half masted at the Bonanza office today, why it is drawn down the pole at the fire house, at the Elks' home and the Butler theater. Frank suffered much during the past year. His body was wracked with pain. He shivered to a shadow, but he stuck and maintained, he pored over his books with unseeing eyes and lifted his weary frame to go from one department to another, while all the time was ringing in his ears the summons to depart.

The editor of this paper has no words with which to express his sorrow for the passing of one who was not a mere employee but a friend and mentor, a guardian of his interests, a loyal brother.

Somewhere in the great beyond, after all the mists and clouds of this mundane existence have been dissipated and have passed away, it is the great ambition and the strong desire, not merely to clasp the hand of Frank Ward, but to tell him face to face how deep was the bereavement and how great the sorrow when the message came to him to depart. "Farewell, a word that makes us linger, a word that has been and shall be, yet, farewell."

THE BOOM IS ON

TONOPAH for the past two years has been idling in the doldrums, with sails flopping against the masts and with the rudder disobedient to the wheel. This was not because there were no ore reserves in the camp, nor that their grade had lowered, but simply because the price of silver had fallen to a point where the previously declared dividends could not be maintained without sacrifice of the ore in sight which should have been worth so much more than the market price.

Within the past week or two there has taken place a wonderful change. Silver has advanced in price, but only a molty of the appreciation that will come in the near future, for silver now is silver and will be silver and command its price.

This is not the best part of the story, however. It was the finding of rich ore in quantity in unexpected places. Cash Boy has the North Merger vein and in quantity. The vein shows full four feet and is good for $30 to the ton. It means that the Victor has a continuous ore lens to the Cash Boy line. It furthermore has developed that there will be no more side line difficulties.

North Star is again proven and it is a gold-silver instead of a silver-gold vein, with assurance of its continuance. Rescue-Eula has an in and out affair that will doubtless settle down to a continuous "in" as soon as sufficient distance is gained from the seismic influence.

But better and bigger than all is the showing that has been made in the Halifax. Here is a ledge that seemingly has no connection with any other orebearing formation in the district. It was found far out in the matrix trachyte, 1000 feet east of the shaft in virgin territory. It is a big ledge and it carries big values. It does not seem to be a faulted segment, but one of the hitherto undiscovered ore leads of the camp. It means everything to Tonopah to find ore in such localities and everybody here is sitting tight and waiting for the boom that will come. It might be well in this connection to mention that the Extension has not found the western termination of its ore zone, that other properties are developing new ore bodies and that the future of silver is assured, but it is needless to tell all the good news in one story.

WHAT THE I. W. W. NEED

THE destruction of the hopfields of Horst brothers in California across the river from Sacramento was undoubtedly the work of the so-called Industrial Workers of the World. California with its "isms" and its "ologies" has proved a fruitful soil for the growth of such fungi. While its governor deserves credit for telling the worthless scoundrels that no steps to consider the Ford and Suhr cases would be taken as long as they threatened death and incendiarism, there are a lot of persons engaged in coddling the vagabonds and encouraging them, says the Chronicle.

We have had some experience with the I. W. W. in this state. They have had some experience with us, too. As a consequence, despite an all too lenient board of pardons, the I. W. W. are letting us alone. When they talked of marching over the Sierras to Nevada on their way east, it will be recalled, they were not assured of free meals and beds and were not promised free railway rides by weak, effeminate citizens' committees. They were made aware that men with guns—men who know how to use guns, too—would be at the frontier of the state to meet them. The I. W. W. did not come.

It is unpleasant to discuss lynch law in the cases of such men as constitute the leaders of the I. W. W. but the vigilance committee of San Francisco in 1856, finding the law unable to take what should have been its course, assisted its operation from outside with great success. California seems to need something like that again.
